

I do not believe the FCC should make any changes that would decrease the value of the Indiana Telephone Privacy law protections.

Our telephone privacy law means that I can now answer my telephone without screening callers or answering people that I do not know trying to sell me something I do not want. Before the Indiana Telephone Privacy law went into effect, I typically received 12 to 20 calls per day that I did not want. Now I rarely receive one a week. Having my telephone back for my own use has put quality back in my personal time.

Please do not make changes that will lessen the effect of the Indiana Telephone Privacy law.
